Tripura's renowned chemical scientist and researcher who has already invented twenty new and original methodologies and forty formulae has added another feather to his already swollen cap. The famous city college of New York in the USA has included Dr Das's two formulae based educational tools in their library (Link : // library.ccny.cuny.edu/chemistry/computational). The tools, namely , 'Hydrocarbons Parser' and 'Bond Order Calculator' were launched from the US (2015-2018) by minerazzi.com by using Dr Das's set of formulae in the field of chemistry.

Dr Edel Garcia, founder of Minerazzi.com, Bayamon ,Puerto Rica, US manufactured these tools with the help of Dr Das's formulae. In IR Thoughts (Link: <https://irthoughts.wordpress.com/tag/chemistry-tools/>) Dr Garcia expressed his gratitude towards Dr Das by saying 'we developed the tool inspired in Dr Arijit Das's set of innovative and time economic formulae for chemical education. His methodologies are suitable for computer-based learning (CBL) activities or for writing computer programmes for solving chemistry problems. We are sincerely in Debt to Dr Arijit Das from Ramthakur College, Agartala , West Tripura, India for encouraging us to develop this tool for educators, scholars and chemistry students'. Currently Dr Das is working as an Assistant Professor , Bir Bikram Memorial College, Agartala.

Earlier Dr Das's methodologies had formulae had been indexed in the digital library , 'Education Resources Information Centre (ERIC)', United States Department of Education and Library of University of California, Davis , USA. For his latest achievement Dr Das has been congratulated by Er Saju Waheed (IAS), director of higher education, Professor G.N. Mukherjee (Calcutta University), Professor R.N.Mukherjee (IIT, Kanpur), Professor P.K.Chattaraj (IIT-Kharagpur) and Professor Samar Kumar Das , University of Hyderabad. Dr Arijit Das could not be contacted for reaction.
